Sam Krüger (1999) is currently in her final year of her bachelor in Real Estate Management at the Hanze University of Applied Sciences in Groningen. For her final year, she moved to Rotterdam to study the minor 'Project Development in Real Estate' in the first six months and will start her graduation research for BLOC in February.

Sam has already learned a lot about property management at Van 't Hof Rijnland, a property management organization, where she worked for a year. She was responsible for a lot of administrative work. In addition, she conducted viewings, preliminary and final inspections, and was in daily contact with tenants. During her study and experiences at Van 't Hof Rijnland, she created a great passion and interest in the real estate sector.

Sam has chosen to learn more about project development within the real estate sector for her senior year. She specifically chose BLOC because of their integrated approach and high-profile projects. Her experiences have ensured that she is a customer-friendly, communicative, flexible, reliable and hard worker.

At BLOC, Sam will work as a development intern and she will be active in a wide range of projects.
