Mimosa Spitz (2002) is a third-year student at Breda University of Applied Sciences. She studies Built Environment with a specialization in Urban Design. During her study, she has developed a great interest in circularity. With every assignment she receives, she thinks about how circularity can be applied to the design. From the end of August, Mimosa starts her first internship at BLOC. For six months, she is going to help BLOC with visualising information.

At BLOC, Mimosa can finally apply the knowledge from her study in real life. She is really passionate about her study. She is a good storyteller because of her enthusiasm and with her curiosity she learns a lot of new things. She is always open to new adventures. From her studies, she has developed many graphic skills that she can use at BLOC.
